

2008 Syrah Watch Hill Vineyard

The Watch Hill Vineyard lies in the cool reaches of the Los Alamos Valley. The grapes are allowed to reach very high maturity levels, while retaining a stunning natural acidity due to warm, sunny days and very cool nights and soils rich in sand and calcareous material. This results in a very full-bodied syrah that is refreshing, rather than heavy or cloying. This vineyard has become a staple in our Single Vineyard Series wines, showing itself as a standout wine with unique vineyard driven qualities. Yields are always ruinously low (1-tons per acre) much to the chagrin of the vineyard owners...We have had our name on the same two acres of Syrah Clone 877 here for several years now. The wine was bottled after 18 months in French Oak Barrels.
